Testimony Taken In Separation Action

Testimony was taken Friday before Judge John T. Loughran in a separation action brought by Mary B. Pelham of West Camp against James S. Pelham. Grant M. Brinley appeared for plaintiff.

Mrs. Pelham was married to the defendant in Florida and now resides at West Camp. She alleges cruel and inhuman treatment over a period of several years since her marriage in 1920. At one time she testified her husband came home and knocked over the wash-tubs and used indecent language toward her in the presence of a visitor at the house and that several times he had threatened her life. He chased her on one occasion with a stick of wood and beat her so that she took refuge with a neighbor. On other occasions she said he threatened to kill her and abused her and the children. It was his habit to take the children and keep them away from the house for long periods some days and during those times she said she worried for fear of harm to the children as her husband drank and drove his car at times when he was in a fit of temper. She asked custody of the two children.

Witnesses were called who testified to having seen him intoxicated and abuse his wife and use profane and indecent language.

Miss Stone told police her niece called upon her yesterday and that while they were riding in Miss Murray's automobile, the younger woman stopped the car, saying she wished to show her aunt something.

The niece got into the rear seat. Miss Stone said, and suddenly placed a handkerchief, soaked in what she believed a drug, over her face. She said she struggled and tried to get out of the car and was struck on the head with a heavy piece of iron.

President Hoover Blames Lehman for Ruinous State Policy

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 22 (AP).—Col. William F. Donovan, Republican gubernatorial candidate, says Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, his Democratic opponent, is responsible for "a ruinous state policy."

The speech, delivered last night at the Clinton county courthouse here before Donovan's opponent, for Edward J. Kane, was a rebuke to one made in Albany by Lehman. The latter had said that every dollar expended by the state was appropriated by a Republican legislature.

"Such a statement," Donovan declared, "makes us wonder whether this gentleman, who is submitted to us as an experienced in government, really knows how the government of the state operates."

He then maintained that the governor and not the legislature was responsible for the budget and asked, "And who has been the guiding genius in this ruinous policy in our state government?" Governor Roosevelt says that Mr. Lehman has been his strong right arm. Mr. Lehman takes pride in and boasts that he has been his financial advisor, and he asks the suffrage of the people of the state by reason of the fact that he has sat in determining the fiscal policy of the state.

"He asks me what specific item of expense I would eliminate or reduce. I ask him, has he gone as far as he can go? Is he satisfied with the record as it stands? Does he tell the people of this state that there can be no reduction in expenditures? Does he admit his incompetency to accomplish the result?"

"Does he as a trained business man say there is no way to balance the budget of this state? If he admits that, if he confesses that he is all through and has gone as far as he can, I say to you, if it is true, let him be honest with the people of the state and say he is prepared to quit."

To Protect Labor

Mr. Hoover told his cheering audience, estimated at thousands by police, that he had in the past suggested some measure of cooperation in the marketing of coal because he was "impressed with the absolute destruction of our national resources and the impoverishment of labor through destructive competition."

"Neither you nor I wish to destroy the fundamental basis of competition in our country," the President said. "But a limited cooperation to prevent this destructive action should be undertaken. We have already extended this privilege to your agriculture and labor. The coal industry could have such safeguards as would make it possible to pay a fair wage, earn reasonable profit and save hundreds of communities from their steady degeneration and impoverishment."

As in his other speeches along the route of campaign trips, the President declared that the Republican tariff principle is at length.

Attorney H. LeRoy Gill appeared for Mrs. Storms.

This morning Harold Nelting of 333 Abel street was arraigned in police court on a charge of possessing the stolen goods. He was represented by Attorney Chris J. Prisoner Stabbed To Death In Riot On Welfare Island

Fight Started When Irish and Italian "Peace Committees" Failed to Adjust Animosity Among Prisoners in City Penitentiary—Hundreds of Police Rushed to Scene.

New York, Oct. 22 (AP).—One prisoner was stabbed to death today during a riot among city penitentiaries on Welfare Island in the East river. All available police in the city were rushed to the island to quell the riot.

Before the riot broke out, the riot was started by Irish and Italian "peace committees" who had been ordered by the warden to meet in an attempt to adjust animosity which had broken out between Irish and Italian prisoners.

The riot was reported to have started in the office of Warden Joseph A. Moran between two "peace committees" of prisoners who had met with the warden in an attempt to adjust animosity which had broken out between Irish and Italian prisoners.

The riot, consisting of about four men each, began their conversation peacefully but soon arguments waxed hot and the peacekeepers began punching at each other. This brawl was quickly stopped and the committee members went out of the warden's office. They began fighting again in the corridor, however, and George Holshod, a prisoner, was stabbed to death.

Welfare Island, which until recent years was known as Blackwell's Island, is a long strip of land directly beneath the center of the Queensborough bridge which runs from East 59th street in Manhattan, to Long Island.

On receipt of the riot call police headquarters dispatched 25 patrolmen, four emergency squads and four ambulances to the island. The report to headquarters said that the riot was among prisoners in the penitentiary. Besides the penitentiary the island also contains a city hospital and several correctional institutions.

Inspector Vincent Sweeney sent 50 detectives to the island from police headquarters and ordered all squad commanders to send additional detectives from all over the city. As a precautionary measure detectives and patrolmen were sent to Tombs Prison near police headquarters to prevent any sympathetic outbreak there. The tombs was the scene of the last serious prison riot in New York.

Tunnel Under Island

Besides the bridge elevator and the regular ferry service the island is connected with the shore by an emergency exit from the B. M. T. subway tunnel from Manhattan to Queens which runs directly under the island.

Three police airplanes were ordered to make a reconnaissance flight over the island to investigate a report that the prisoners had set fire to the great stone buildings.

As additional reports came in 100 additional patrolmen were dispatched to the scene and all commanding officers available were ordered to report there.

Common-Council Meets Wednesday

Mayor Carey announced today that he would call a special meeting of the common council for Wednesday evening to take action on the request of the board of public works to acquire land by condemnation needed for the improving of the Boulevard from Wall street to the city line. This is a work relief project, but it is necessary for the aldermen to sanction the acquiring of land before the work can be started.

The bus committee of the council will hold public hearings on three bus petitions, preliminary to the special meeting of the council.

Padlock Decreed For Syd's Two Acres

New York, Oct. 21 (Special).—A padlock for one year was decreed in Federal Court here today for Syd's Two Acres, a bar-room, dance hall and restaurant in Saugerties, after the defendant, Sydney Mandar, who is stated to be the owner and operator of the place, failed to appear to defend the action. A personal judgment was issued against him for failure to appear in the Federal Court in contempt of court proceedings.

The charges against the establishment, in the complaint filed on July 7, were nuisance and sale and possession of liquor.

Lehman To Visit Kingston Tonight

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 22 (AP).—Herbert H. Lehman, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, transported his campaign guns from the normally Republican area of central New York to another enemy territory in the Hudson Valley today. His campaign map for the day called for a swift jump from Syracuse, scene last night of his second major upstate speech, to Kingston, with two intermediate addresses at Schenectady and Catskill. Tonight he will speak at Reade's Kingston theatre.

Democratic leaders of the districts he visited yesterday brought him optimistic results. The Onondaga leaders, Frank Shaughnessy and William H. Kelley predicted that he would repeat the Roosevelt 1930 record and carry their county in the November 8 election.

Colonel Lehman chose this agricultural section of the state last night to make his major farm address, in which he pledged support to the farm program inaugurated in the first term of Governor Roosevelt.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT BOUND FOR THE SOUTH

Abroad Roosevelt-Special en route to Louisville, Ky., Oct. 22 (AP).—Turning back from the shores of the Mississippi and heading into the south today, Governor Roosevelt left behind him at St. Louis the charge that President Hoover and former President Coolidge are attempting "to throw political and economic tear bombs among the people of the country."

In the St. Louis Coliseum where President Hoover made a campaign speech four years ago, the Democratic presidential nominee told a near-capacity audience last night that "a last resort" the Chief Executive and his predecessor are employing "panic-creating tear gas" in order to "blind you for the occasion."

CONWAY ADDRESSES FIRST DUTCH CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

The members of the Men's Club of the First Dutch Church were entertained and instructed Friday night by an address given by J. Edward Conway, assistant district attorney and Republican candidate for Member of Assembly.

Mr. Conway took the judiciary as the theme for his address and stressed particularly the duty of the citizen to take an active part in counteracting the present day tendency toward blind and unjustified criticism of the courts, the backbone of our system of government.

At the conclusion of the meeting there was a service of refreshments.

French Chamber to Study War Debt

Paris, Oct. 22 (AP).—Premier Herriot's government stood at a crossroads today as the chamber of deputies prepared to discuss the entire question of war debts only three days hence.

The close proximity of the discussion served, as has the criticism in the press in recent days, to bring to the point.

If M. Herriot's government intends to pay the United States $19,261,422 interest on the war debt, December 15, when it is due, it must first ask the chamber to make an appropriation of that amount.

Entangled in this problem is the fact that the government must either pay new taxes to get 7,000,000,000 francs (approximately $250,000,000) or cut government expenses by that amount for the treasury faces that much deficit.

Medalie Prevented State-Wide Racket

Plan of Gangsters to "Organize" Farmers Nipped At Inception

BASED his campaign on other-ness to the principles and leadership of Herbert Hoover and enforcement of strict economy in government, George E. Medalie, Republican candidate for United States Senator from New York, is expected to play a strong part in cutting down Tammany votes in New York City, not only in his own behalf but for the entire Republican ticket.

In Up-State counties and cities he is remembered for having reached out the long arm of the Federal Law to smother the late Jack (Legs) Diamond from the career of state-wide racketeering on which he had embarked. Diamond was preparing to "organize" the farmers of the Hudson Valley and Southern Tier Counties to force the sale to him of all of their older and apple-jacking, taking their outside markets and establishing himself as "Czar" of the rural districts. Two attempts by State authorities to send him to jail failed. Medalie, as United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, secured a conviction, and Diamond was out on bail awaiting appeal when he was shot by rival gangsters.

Medalie has long been a leader in movements to suppress fraudulent banking and swindling of the public. He is understood to have convicted more bookmaking racketeers than any professional in his office. He is given an authority for the statement that almost $1,000,000,000 is lost annually from trusting investments by this class of racketeers.

He was born in New York City November 21, 1882, attending the public schools of New York City and Columbia University. For many years he has been active in charitable and philanthropic organizations, being especially interested in movements for youth guidance and welfare.

Operators' Union Case in Court

Judge John T. Loughran, who has been holding the October trial term at Troy, held a regular special term of Supreme Court Friday at the city hall. Next week he will return to continue the trial term at Troy.

Among the matters which came up for attention of the court was the matter of the reinstatement of Thomas J. Little into the local stage and motion picture operators' union from which he was suspended some time ago.

The action is brought by Thomas J. Little against David Sherry, individually and as president of Local Union No. 627, International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada. Arthur B. Ewig appeared for Little and Michael Stiel for Isaac Miller appeared for the defendants. Mr. Miller moved at the opening of the case to dismiss the complaint as against David Sherry on the grounds the complaint did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action and the motion was granted.

Little was employed at the Broadway Theatre and at times at the Kingston Theatre. Last April he was suspended from the union for some months and claims that the union was the reason rather than any real reason or fault of his own. The union claims the suspension was legal according to the rules of the union.

Carl Dwyer, secretary of the union, was called and produced certain records. The case was continued this morning before Judge Loughran.

Palmer Canfield Spoke To Pythians

A large number of Pythians gathered at Hope Lodge, Port Ewen, last night to hear Deputy Supreme Chancellor Palmer Canfield and other Pythian speakers. Delegates were present from Kingston and Phoenixia and other places. District Deputy Grand Chancellor Edmund J. Moore presided at the meeting.

Deputy Supreme Chancellor Canfield emphasized the wonderful relief work being carried on by the Knights of Pythias at the present time. He told them that the Order was expending between two and three millions of dollars each year in assisting members and their families, and that the Order had expended over one hundred millions of dollars since its institution 68 years ago for the same purpose. Also, that the Order had 24 Homes in the United States for members and their wives and widows and for orphan children which was costing the Order another million dollars annually. He also called their attention to the other achievements of the order in that it was the first order to receive a charter from the Congress of the United States, the first to require a display of the American flag in every lodge room, the first to raise a fund for soldiers or their dependents in the World War, and the first to purchase Liberty Bonds, and the first to open its doors to 18 year old boys. He asserted that the greatest man today was the one who had the greatest love for his fellow men, and that was the great teaching of Pythianism.

Judge Henry E. McKenzie spoke on the history of the Port Ewen Lodge. He recalled its great activities in the past years and related how the lodge had built the present Pythian Hall in 1931 and later on erected a large addition. Deputy Canfield had stated that Judge McKenzie had been the great Mogul of Port Ewen ever since he could remember and he was certain that the Judge was the great Sachem of Esopus when Henry Hudson sailed up the Hudson River in 1609. As the Judge did not deny this it was accepted without further proof by all the members present.

The Rev. A. J. Coffey of Shandaken Lodge, Phoenixia, delivered a splendid talk on the value of friendship which is the cardinal principle of the order. His address was listened to very intently by those present. The Rev. Philip Goertz of Port Ewen Lodge also gave a very interesting and eloquent talk on fraternity. After talks by District Deputy Grand Chancellor Moore and others a very appealing repeat was served after which the members were given a treat to moving pictures including some that were taken in the city of Kingston.

Quality and Prices Good at Egg Auction

The second Hudson Valley Egg auction, which took place in Poughkeepsie on Friday kept well up to the standard set at the first auction on Tuesday. The high quality brought still better prices, while the pullet grades sold somewhat lower.

The following is a complete summary of the prices: Fancy large eggs sold for 43 cents per dozen, fancy mediums ranged from 24 1/2 to 36 1/2 cents; Grade A large 40 1/2 to 41 1/2; Grade A medium 31 to 34; pullets 21 to 25 1/2 and peewees 19 1/2 to 20. One lot of producers large brought 24 1/2 cents.

The quality was well up to standard and the grades are official N. Y. S. Grades placed on the eggs by a state inspector. This assures the buyer of high quality eggs and if retained promptly are the best eggs obtainable.

All the eggs sold are labeled "Hudson Valley Eggs." Every effort is being made to establish a reputation for these high quality eggs. The possibility of selling them in cartons has already been discussed so that the consumer could ask for "Hudson Valley Eggs" at the store.

Auctions will be held every Tuesday and Friday at the auction rooms at the corner of Gates and Laurel streets in Poughkeepsie. Truckmen pick up the Ulster county eggs on Mondays and Thursdays for delivery to the auction. Any poultryman wishing to become a member can get in touch with Glenn Cummings of Nagscoch; A. P. Kaplan, Accord; John J. Miller, Kingston; R. D. No. 3; Raymond DuBois, Gardiner; Claude Kiefer, Kingston; R. D. No. 4; Willis Myers, Saugerties, or leave word at the Farm Bureau office in Kingston.

Highly Artistic Pipes in Use Among Indians

The history of our pipe begins with the discovery of tobacco by the Spaniards in Central America. There pipes had been used by the Indians for a very long time. In the ancient sepulchral mounds of the Mississippi valley large numbers of pipes were found. On the construction of these pipes the artistic skill of their makers seems to have been lavished with a degree of care and ingenuity bestowed on no other work. The early Indian pipes are sculptured into singular devices: Figures of the human head and of various beasts, birds and reptiles. They are all executed in miniature, but with great fidelity to nature. An old writer remarks that not only are the features of the various objects represented faithfully, but their peculiarities and habits are in some degree exhibited. The other holds a fish in his mouth, the hawk grasps a small bird in his talons, and so on.

The peculiar feature of these prehistoric pipes is, that they are carved out of hard stone and that they have no stem. The tobacco bowl is usually in the head of the animal figure, and a thin, carefully drilled tube leads to one end of the elongated base. Apparently the smoker puts his lips immediately to the stone without using a special stem or mouthpiece.—Montreal Family Herald.

Australian Dogs Made Mockery of Set Traps

"The cunning of dog rabbits has been beaten," writes a correspondent to the Sydney (N. S. W.) Bulletin. "On each of five consecutive afternoons I set 63 traps on a series of burrows harboring hundreds of hares, and on each of five successive mornings found every trap sprung and empty. Deciding that malice aforethought was at work, I made the sixth set and watched from various pop-holes, and without wasting time repaired each to a trap, and noted around a bit locating springs. Then the warren became a series of small volcanoes spouting mud as the dogs heaved themselves into the air and came down on the safe end of a trap. It was all over in a minute and the muzzles returned below. Ten seconds later the top of the warren was alive with hares playing in the sand of the trap sets. I went home trying to think of a new swear-word."

Fast-Flying Birds

The speed of migrating birds has been variously estimated. Airplanes and stop watches have been used to gather information on this point. The slower birds fly about 20 miles per hour, and the fastest birds recorded with accuracy are two species of swifts in Asia. Their speed was found by E. C. Stuart-Baker to be nearly 200 miles per hour across a two-mile course.

Parent-Teacher Associations

A very successful meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association was held Tuesday evening at the school with an attendance of 125 parents and teachers present. Mr. Nickerson, who is in charge of the freshmen study hall, gave a talk stressing the necessity of rightly starting new pupils on their study course in high school.

He said in part, "Success in school depends upon a good foundation. The pupil who obtains a good start his first year in high school is much more likely to graduate, other things being equal, than the pupil who is retarded in some subject. Statistics show that the largest number of pupils drop out of high school during the first year from this point at least the freshmen year is the hardest and most important."

Mrs. Finney gave an interesting talk on the work done in the cafeteria. In the cafeteria 1,200 students are served in 20 minutes during the noon hour each day with sandwiches, regular dinners, milk, ice cream, etc. Girls in the home-making department prepare the meals and get credit for it.

Following her talk, Mrs. Finney had all the parents inspect the cafeteria. Each was served with a sandwich, coffee and an ice cream sundae.

Much credit is due Mr. Nickerson and Mrs. Finney for their enlightening meeting.

If You Would Score as a Smart Spectator

Green suede is featured for a drop-shoulder yoke model with metal accents.

Bright blue suede is employed for the double-breasted jacket with belt only at sides and back.

Above, at left, mohair and angora combine in a sweater with short puff sleeves plaited over the upper part of the arms and the shoulders in a manner quite popular with the newer sweaters. Rust and white combine.

At right, the same combination of mohair and angora is favored in brown and white. The shaping of the roll collar and ribbing in the sleeves are noteworthy. At bottom left, the novelty all-over tuck mesh is featured in contrasting colors, giving a striped effect to this blouse.

At left center, simulated hand-knitting is featured in a tweed pull-over with round neckline and button closing to the top of the hip-ribbing.

At right center, natural cashmere in novelty stitch is used for a puff sleeve model with tiny collar finished by pompons.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Shop windows display great variety in color and fabric in presentations of dresses this week, with several stores, however, faithful to the black and white scheme for formal wear. For day-time wear, there is interesting attention shown gray, navy is effective, and red and black is striking in combination. Many exclusive stores approve green with gray, and red with brown, and a lovely royal sapphire is observed in evening fashions.

An interesting group of sophisticated dresses in crepe satin is being shown for afternoon and evening, with black and brown the colors chosen. The fabric is especially soft and sympathetic to the figure, and has a dull luster that is most attractive.

One of the evening gowns is completed by a jacket, and another is worn with a box.

In hat shops the following themes dominate: Sailor themes in brimmed hats.

Double beret drapes, newest expression of this theme in French hats.

Double trimmings at back, twin bows or ornaments.

The satin sailor, a new idea, strictly Victorian.

The drum silhouette in fur.

Soles in favor, both surface featured.

The jeweler's touch—glistening ornaments make a point of elegance.

An effective evening cap is composed of bands of black broadcloth showing the hair between, with a crest of black feathers across the top, from ear to ear.

At a recent, and smart, outdoor event, the following costumes were noted:

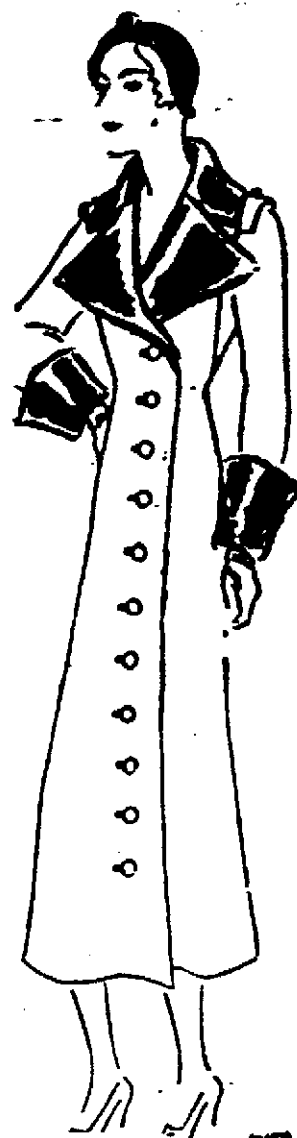

Brown lightweight woolen jacket costumes, with matching satin blouses, the jackets in waistline length.

Green rough crepe dresses with mole dyed to match appearing in collars and edging Ascot scarfs.

The Lanvin dress that came over in black with red vestee and white braided border, copied in black with chartreuse vestee and white border.

Two-piece black woolen dresses, with Persian lamb trimming in borders and scarf (the).

A COAT WITH A DIFFERENCE

The redingote we have become so accustomed to see fastened by two rows of buttons becomes single-breasted this year; here it is done in beige woolen, trimmed with net.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Simple Frock for a Little Miss. 7670. Printed voile or printed linen will be nice for this little frock. It is quaint in its make up—with full straight skirt lengthened by a deep flounce and the simple waist, finished with a broad collar. The above may be the bishop style, with a band cut, or the new "pull up" puff, as pictured in the small front view. Organdy or chiffon is also suggested for this style.

Designed in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8, and 10 years. Size 8 will require 2 yards of 25 inch printed material and 1-3 yard of plain material if made as in the large view. If made in monochrome it will require 2 1/2 yards. With puff sleeve as in the small view 2 yards will be required. To finish with bias binding as in the large view, will require 6 1/2 yards 1 1/2 inch wide. The tie belt of ribbon will require 2 yards.

Room For All In Busses For Sing Sing Contest

Manager Lou Kantrowitz of the Yellow Jackets this morning announced that there would be plenty of room in the busses leaving the American Legion Building Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock for Sing Sing and that previous reservation need not have been made in order to ride in the conveyance.

"I have arranged for enough busses to carry at least 750 people and can get more if the number of Yellow Jacket followers warrants the hiring of extra cars," Kantrowitz said. "Indications are that there will be about 400 Kingston people at the game," he added, "and I expect the contest to be one of the biggest and hardest of the season for the Yellow Jackets. My men are all in good shape, ready to fight hard and I hope to see them trim Sing Sing. No other team has done that this year and if the Kingston boys do, I'll be the happiest man in the Hudson valley. So will Coach 'Bill' O'Reilly. I'm sure."

The game between the Yellow Jackets and Sing Sing is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Admission to the prison stadium, through the big gates in the wall surrounding the "alma mater" of "Jumbo" Morano, may be had as early as 1 o'clock. Fans traveling in private cars are advised to arrive as near that time as possible because the gates will be locked before the game starts. The proceedings will begin with a parade, led by the little daughter of Warden E. Law, who always heads the Sing Sing eleven onto the gridiron to the accompaniment of the prison band.

In the loss of "Jumbo" Morano by parole, the Sing Sing team feels that some of its "powerhouse" attack might be missing against the Yellow Jackets. However, Coach Johnny Law, formerly of Notre Dame, and the inmate brigade well groomed for a fight that he hopes will keep the state's wards from losing much of the prestige they have gained by defeating the Port Jervis Police and two other well rated clubs this season.

The Yellow Jackets have defeated the West Point Artillery, Albany Lucky Strikes and the famous Woodlawn of Yonkers so far this fall and contemplate bowling over the prison eleven in the same manner that they did their trio of opponents at the Kingston Fair Grounds. The game at Sing Sing will be the "Bees" first away from home this year.

Among the players making the trip with the Yellow Jackets in a special bus will be Clarence Hupfer and Don Beany, Kingston's famous forward passing combination; Paul Howard, Jimmy Sledge, Lou Lewis, Phil McDonald, Jole Hoffman, Stan Colvin, "Alabama" Christmas, Joe Vordick, Harry Scheffel and C. Russo.

Ross Decisively Beats Battalino

Chicago, Oct. 22 (AP)—Barney Ross, 22-year-old Chicago lightweight, has demonstrated by a decisive victory over Bat Battalino that he is just about ripe for a shot at Tony Cantorini's championship title.

Ross, with less than forty professional bouts under his belt, gave his demonstration last night in the Chicago Stadium, and earned the unanimous decision of the referee, and the two judges, after ten rounds of courageous battling. The Chicago Jewish youngster proved himself a far superior boxer, as expected, and even outmaneuvered the iron man from Hartford, Conn., at his favorite style—body punching.

The referee credited Ross with nine rounds, and the scorecards of the judges attested to the margin.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

No delusions of grandeur nor false notions as to any occult powers he may possess as a baseball manager, says Joseph Vincent McCarthy, the strong, silent Irishman from Buffalo who has just been returned to office for three more years as pilot of the world champion Yankees.

In a year conspicuous for its turn-over in all phases of our national life, the vote of confidence for McCarthy's administration is a signal and outstanding tribute to his ability. "I feel pretty good about it," Joe admitted, a bit cautiously, "but don't think I overlook the fact that it is going to be tough trying to stay up around the top. They all will be in there to take a crack at us next year. I've been up and down often enough in baseball to know better than to take anything for granted."

It has been mostly "up" for McCarthy, however, for quite some time. Even when the Cubs cast him adrift at the close of the 1920 season, it was a boost in the right direction. Joe promptly accepted an offer, equally as lucrative, to manage the richest club in either league and now has been rewarded by a contract making him the highest paid manager in either league, with the possible exception of Connie Mack.

Wanted To Play Mack

Speaking of Mack recalls the occasion when McCarthy, then just named manager of the Cubs, was called on to speak at a banquet in his honor in Germantown, a suburb of Philadelphia, where Joe was born and Connie lived. Mack made a speech praising McCarthy. The local boy who had made good in the national game then spoke up: "My highest ambition is to meet Connie Mack in the world series."

This sounded a bit brash at the time, even though Joe was moving into the big show with high hopes. But three years later the ambition was realized. Joe and his Cubs took a lesson in slugging from Mack and his A's.

They have a saying that McCarthy never makes the same mistake twice. Anyway, his next move was to associate himself with the hardest bunch of sluggers in baseball and you all know what they finished doing with the Cubs a few weeks ago in New York and Chicago.

Common Sense Leader. McCarthy's ideas about baseball are extremely plain and businesslike. "A ball game lasts approximately two hours," he once remarked. "All I ask is that my men go out there and hustle every minute for two hours every day. If I have any one on the team who does not want to do that I get rid of him."

Heavy Plunger

No master-minding about that. Just plain common sense. Joe believes in getting along with folks. His players like him. One of the first things he did upon taking hold of the Yankees was to convince Babe Ruth that he had no cause for worry about McCarthy. The rest was easy, with the Big Bam setting the pace.

McCarthy's retention on a long-term contract is a contrast to the more otherwise in the big leagues to try player managers again.

Oil's Edmunds, fullback of the University of Indiana eleven, is a powerful 195 pound plunger.

Old Territorial Name

Normbaga was a region along the northeast coast of North America, or its capital city, given an old name of the Stronach and Severnashan cultures. The extent of the country varied from a region including the entire coast from near Cape Breton to Florida to a district in Maine about the Penobscot river. It is disputed whether the name is of Indian, Norse or Spanish origin.

Today

Kingston: "The Crash." Romance and the depression, with Ruth Chatterton and George Brent. It is a story of high finance, the stock market, and the market crash that everyone will remember. George Brent is a young financier. Miss Chatterton is his luxury loving wife. The star has a chance to do some of her best emoting in this talkie, and takes full advantage of the opportunity. George Brent is as fascinating as ever in the role of the youthful business man. Matinee only.

Orpheum: "Bad Sisters" and "Destiny Rides Again." Sidney Fox, Conrad Nagel, Zasu Pitts, and Slim Summerville are the featured players in the first talkie. "Destiny Rides Again" stars Tom Mix with Tony, the wonder horse, in one of the best of the western pictures.

Broadway: "Hot Harlem," a colored revue, is the stage attraction, and "But the Flesh is Weak," with Robert Montgomery is the screen offering. A cast of 35 people comprises the stage show, a dancer, singing, colored novelty with several well known featured artists. Ralph Cooper and his orchestra, Matt Hite, Gail DeGaston and George Williams, Sam, Sam and Sam, Carrie Marrero, and Alice Dixon are among them.

"But the Flesh is Weak" is a risqué comedy drama in which a young gentleman whose aim in life is to marry some lady with enough money to allow him a luxurious living the remainder of his life. As is true of life, he falls in love with a poor widow, Robert Montgomery, Heather Thatcher, Nils Asther, Eleanor Greer and Edward Everett Horton are in the cast.

Tomorrow:

Kingston: "One Way Passage." The finest co-starring picture that William Powell and Kay Francis have ever offered the talkie public. It's a ghost story so interesting and so splendidly acted that the play must be classed as one of the most entertaining bits of celluloid to come out of Hollywood in some time.

The greater share of the action takes place on a boat, bound from Hongkong to San Francisco. There is action every minute and some swell comedy by Aline MacMahon and Frank McHugh. And the Powell-Francis combination prove to be a thoroughly enjoyable and sincere romantic team. Put this one on the don't miss list.

Orpheum: "Iron Man" and "Whistling Dan." Lew Ayres plays the part of a pugilist in this story of the fight racket. It is also a story of the fighter's downfall because of a woman, Robert Armstrong and Jean Harlow are also in the cast. "Whistling Dan" stars Ken Maynard in a unusual western story with thrills galore. Tarran, the wonder horse, contributes his best efforts for the success of the play.

Broadway: "The Crooked Circle." Here's a mystery drama with all the ingredients of a good evening's entertainment. Most of the plot takes place in a haunted house, so well haunted that it will keep any audience from going to sleep. And the finish of the picture is filled with surprises. Ben Lyon, Irene Purcell, Zasu Pitts, and James Gleason are in the cast. Worth seeing.

"Maverick" is the word used in referring to an unbranded animal, especially a motherless calf, formerly commonly claimed by the first person branding it. The name is said to be derived from Samuel Maverick, a cattle owner in Texas, who did not brand his cattle, his ranch being on an island.

Health of Nose, Throat and Lungs
The health of the nose, the throat, and the lungs is important at this season of the year. Nasal stoppage is not only unpleasant, but dangerous. Sore throat interferes with digestion, and unless quickly mastered, infects the system. Lung ailments are responsible for more deaths than any other single group of diseases.

With this season of changeable weather, high winds, dampness, and other influencing factors, it is necessary in the battle for health to build up bodily resistance, or disease will overtake us. Lowered resistance power is most frequently evident in persons easily subject to colds, influenza, pneumonia, and kindred ailments. In every instance there is found nervous depression.

Because the nervous system is directly and definitely reached by the Chiropractic method, Chiropractic is a scientific method to be employed in your search for better resistance and better health. There are no "home runs" to health. When health is gone, you have to make your way back to normal by easy stages. Nature is not hurried beyond a certain point. Care of your health today will prevent tomorrow's regrets.

HEALTH FOLLOWS CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:
HEAD, EARS, EYES, NOSE, THROAT, AMPS, HEART, LUNGS, LIVER, STOMACH, PANCREAS, SPLEEN, KIDNEYS, BOWELS, APPENDIX, BLADDER, SPINAL CORD, CERVICAL, LUMBAR.

NO RETURN OF TROUBLE AFTER MORE THAN A YEAR

"I suffered untold misery from asthma and catarrh ever since I was a girl. I could not comfortably lie down at night. I tried one doctor after another, and every patent medicine I heard about. About sixteen months ago I started Chiropractic, and became well. It is now more than a year since I have had any treatments, and I have had no return of the ailments." Matilda J. Sears, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1238-H.
